

GDPR Sales Officer for the US market (US-based)

Intellegant is a growing startup based in Brussels, Belgium. We offer a chance to get in the ground floor of an exciting business and help develop new opportunities in a fast-paced environment.

We are seeking a GDPR Sales Officer based in the United States. Your main focus is to generate new business with new customers in the US. You will develop and execute a strategy to sell Intellegant's GDPR advisory services and solutions in the US and will be reporting to Intellegant's CEO.

Your profile:

- Young graduate in business management, with a keen interest in law and international economics
- Able to strengthen business relationships with mid-cap companies operating in the life science industry that are concerned about GDPR compliance
- Proven records of creating and sustaining a valuable network of leads and ability to convert them into contracts
- Good understanding and familiarity with the use of professional and social networks for the purpose of promoting Intellegant's services
- Experience with online and offline advertising and marketing to drive efficient customer acquisition
- Interest in GDPR, data privacy and security, and consulting
- Passionate about building, bringing to market and scaling specialized tech consulting services
- Entrepreneurial spirit and can-do attitude
- Good communication, team-work and problem solving skills.

Should you be interested and should you satisfy the requirements indicated above, please send your CV and a letter of interest to info@intellegant.com. We offer a minimum fixed salary plus a success fee framework on a freelance basis.

We are looking forward to receiving your application!